ON BEHALF OF THE WARD I RESIDENTS

We on Ward I of the Hospital would like to call the attention of those in the Dietary Department. Day after day, the residents restricted to a baby's diet receive the same meals with little or no variation. The nutritional value of the food is without question, is sufficient in required nutritional quality, but lacks appeal when continuously served as is the case. Nutrients alone do not suffice in satisfying one's appetite. Regardless of their age and inability to express the facts, infants too find a pleasure--as well as the need--in eating.

Is it at all possible that their meals could be made more pleasing with some variation?

ZOO TRIP FOR D-2 BOYS

June 10, 1971, was an exciting day for D-2. The weather was grand and the residents were eager to get started on their first trip to the Philadelphia Zoo. Each staff member assisting showed up on time, the bus arrived promptly, and Ed the driver greeted the residents smilingly. Enthusiasm and delight was the expression as we visited the various areas and saw the different species of animals. Each staff member shared responsibility which made the trip a success. The boys appreciated the bag lunches and juice prepared by the Dietary Department. The trip on the monorail circling the area ended the day. We left the grounds through a revolving gate which caused some confusion, but all went well.

The D-2 boys all say "Thanks" to those who helped make this day a happy one.
